MEDICINAL.

Take Simmons' Liver Regulator For all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen.

WILL CURE

DYSPEPSIA.

I MUST OWN that your Simmons' Liver Regulator fully deserves the popularity it has attained. As a family medicine it has no equal. It cured my wife of a mala dy I had counted incurable -that wolfsbane of our American people, Dyspepsia.
A. E. P. ALBERT,
Professor in Nicholas Publie School, Parish of Terrebonne, La. MALARIOUS FEVERS

You are at liberty to use my name in praise of your Regulator as prepared by you, and recommend it to every one as the best preventive for Fever and Ague in the world. I plant in southwestern Georgia, near Albany, Georgia, and must say that it has done more good on my plantation among my negroes than any medicine I ever used. It supersedes quinine if taken in time. Yours, &c., Hon. B. H. HILL, Ga.

CHILDREN!-Your Regulator is superior to any oth-er remedy for Malarial Diseases among children, and it has a large sale in this section of Georgia .- [W. M. Russell, Albany, Ga.

CONSTIPATION. TESTIMONY OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF GEORGIA.-I have used Simmons' Liver Regulator for constipation of my bowels, caused by a temporary derangement of the liver, for the last three or four years, and always, when used according to the directions, with decided benefit. I think it is a good medicine for the derangement of the liver—at least such has been my personal experience in the use of it. HIRAM WARNER, Chief Justice of Georgia. SICK HEADACHE.

EDITORIAL-We have tested its virtues, personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw We have tried forty other remedies before Simmons' Liver Regulator, but none of them gave us more than temporary relief; but the Regulator not only relieved but cured us. - [Editor Telegraph and Messenger, Macon, Ga.

COLIC AND GRUBBS IN HORSES. Having had during the last twenty years of my life to attend to Bacing Stock, and having had so much trouble with them with Colic, Grubbs, &c., gave me a great deal of trouble. Having heard of your Regulator as a cure for the above diseases, I concluded to try it. After trying one PACKAGE IN MASH I found it to cure in every instance It is only to be tried to prove what I have said in its praise. I can send you and at the trial the roughs could not help say-certificates from Augusts, Clinton and Macon ing that they admired his pluck. The roughs as to the cure of horse.

SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1877.

Minister Pierrepont's Son on His Muscle.

This community was somewhat astonished last week on hearing that a case of assault had been heard by some country magistrates, the chief sufferer by the melee being a son of the American Ambassador. On inquiry at the American Legation yesterday I was told that young Mr. Pierrepont had suffered no serious damage, the worst being a painfulinjury to his thigh.

Mr. Pierrepont, desirous of having his son Edward, who is now in his eighteenth year, prepared to enter Yale College, happened to find the teacher he wanted in the Rev. Mr. Seymour, an Oxonian, who holds the rectory of Holme-Pierrepont. On the morning of Suuday, April 1, a party, five in number, repaired to the church where the rector preached, and after the close of the service were returning home. A little way from the church door, and in full view of the village, cleven roughish young men from Nottingham were engaged in loot-racing. They were stripped to the waist and bare-legged, and the rector was considerably scandalized at such an exhibition on Sunday in front of his church. He (the rector) was walking somewhat in front of the young men, and approaching the racers, spoke sharply to them as a set of "rascals," and ordered them to desist. The fellows, who were perhaps somewhat heated with drink as well as the ardor of competition, said they had come out there to race, and meant to race. One of them started, and as the rector stood in the way, ran against him, and, I believe, knocked

The young men came up at that instant, and young Pierrepont, seeing his superior thus hustled, immediately dealt the racer a vigorous blow, which felled him. Another rough came up, and he too was knocked down. The third came, and this time Pierrepost was knocked down, the blow being on the nose, which bled freely. Pierrepont recovered himself, but a stone was thrown by one of the assailants, which made an ugly wound on his thigh. Seven of the eleven roughs were now on the spot, and the Oxford tutor, a Mr. Sharingbank, about twenty five years of age, sprang to Pierrepont's aid. The battle waxed fierce, but the remark. able part was that the rector, a man somewhat over fifty, and his son, aged ninetcen, did not interfere in the least-the rector apparently not thinking it dignified to fight on the Lord's day, and his son, studying for orders, having similar scruples. Another of the party also held aloof, and it was a fight of two against seven. Pierrepont, though young, is powerful, and at the trial the roughs could not help saywere fined two guineas each .- M. D. Conway's London Letter, April 10, to Cincinnati Com-

AN INDIAN DUEL .- A citizen of Sioux City, who has spent much time among the agencies of the up-river Indians, says it is amusing, as well as touching, to hear an Indian sing his death song. Our informant was at Standing Rock a few months since, and one day he observed an unusual stir among the Indians. Soon two bucks came forth from different lodges, each with a gun in his hand. They walked out some little distance from the rest of the Indians and took posts distant from each other about fifty yards. At a given signal they turned, raised their rifles to their faces, and fired. Both fell, wounded-one fatally. They were immediately surrounded by friends, who mado no particular effort to bind their wounds, but simply stood around talking among themselves and gesticulating while the wounded Indians, as soon as they fell began the death song. There was little music in it. It was a sort of deep-down, unnatural tone of voice, kept up for half a minute or so at a time, when it would cease, and the sufferers would in the interior make a confession of all the evil deeds they had EDW'D. S. LEADBEATER. THOS. LEADBEATER. ever done. They would tell of the massacres in which they had been engaged; how many scalps they had lifted from the heads of white people; the number of ponies they had stolen, together with all sorts of important and unimportant evil doings in their lifetime. This accomplished, they were ready to give up the ghost. - Omaha Herald. A GRAND DAUGHTER OF BISHOP JOHNS GOVERNESS AT THE WHITE HOUSE.-We have quite an interesting item through a letter received by a friend from Washington. When Mrs. Hayes arrived in Washington from Obio, Miss Virginia Peyton, a highly educated young lady of twenty, and a grand daughter of the late Bishop Johns, of Virginia, living near Washington, determined, being a teacher by profession, to apply for that position to the President's children. She had no influential friends, and so determined, without letters of recommendation, to apply in person. So one morning she went to the White House and inquired for Mrs. Hayes. The President's wife received her very kindly, and hearing her business promised, after a long conversation, to make inquiries and communicate with her forthwith. The result of her inquiries was so favorable that the intrepid young lady was engaged as governess for her children at a handsome salary. - Staunton Vindicator.
